

UCAN

A Union Community Activist Network

Brought to you by the United Way of Decatur and Mid-Illinois'
AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison Program
Contact: Sarah Sylvester Drake
217-422-8537
fax: 217-422-0633
ssylvester@uwdecatur.org

Union Community Activist Network

featuring the University of Illinois Labor Education Program

Do you wish union members better understood...

- The value of being a union member?
- The history of organized labor?
- Why advocacy is important to workers?
- How community service benefits us all?

UCAN is a tool which educates union members on the importance of legislative, social and economic involvement in their community.

NEW!

Classes meet for 3 Saturdays
from 9am to 2:30pm
February 20 to March 6

Classes held at IBEW Local 146
3390 N. Woodford St.
Decatur, IL 62526

presented by:

AFL-CIO Community Services and United Way Partnership

UCAN

A Union Community Activist Network

Brought to you by the United Way of Decatur and Mid-Illinois'
AFL-CIO Community Services Liaison Program
Contact: Sarah Sylvester Drake
217-422-8537
fax: 217-422-0633
ssylvester@uwdecatur.org

UCAN builds capacity within locals by educating membership on labor history and the most up to date labor laws. We teach the importance of civic participation and community and union involvement. Graduates of the program get a non-credit certificate from the University of Illinois Labor Education Program as well as a certificate of completion from UCAN.

2010 PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20

- Basic Worker Rights
- Coalition of Immokalee Workers
- Building a Better Organization

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27

- Labor History
- Connecting with your Membership
- Local Union Leadership

SATURDAY, MARCH 6

- Community Resources
- Graduation

LOCATION

IBEW Local 146
3390 N. Woodford St.
Decatur, IL 62526

TIME

9am to 2:30pm

COST

$100/person (incl. materials, lunch, graduation ceremony and gift) please make checks payable to United Way of Decatur and Mid-Illinois

presented by:

AFL-CIO Community Services and United Way Partnership